THINGS TO CONSIDER

Designing a master bedroom to complement the way you live will make all the difference to how you feel. It could be you need your bedroom to be energising and invigorating to set you up for the day. Or, you may arrive home exhausted from a hectic day and need a private sanctuary in which to unwind. Careful consideration of your starting point means that you get the right look for your master bedroom.

TOP TIPS

To give a bedroom floor instant character, try a feature rug. They can give an immediate shot of colour, pattern and texture. Rugs offer flexibility in design and can be changed to create seasonal looks.

Mood Board

TRY THIS

Try wallpaper rather than paint. Be imaginative and indulgent in your choices when it comes to dressing your bedroom walls. The bedroom is not subject to the same high volume of traffic which other areas receive, so why not try fabric-backed wallpapers to give you a truly chic, luxurious feel.

TRY TO AVOID

Designing your master bedroom based on the expectations of others. Don't overlook the potential your master bedroom has to be the one place in the home where you can set your imagination free. You can be as self-indulgent as you like in here. So don't miss the opportunity!
